Dear Sir:

Please let me, first of all, apologize to you for the delay in writing to you.

By this letter, I am expressing my deepest appreciation to you for your invaluable assistances extended to me during my stay in your country in connection with the survey of establishing a shipyard in Greece.

It is my great joy and satisfaction that thanks to your whole-hearted cooperation, our studies were carried out in a success.

To my great regret, however, after my arrival in Tokyo, I found that I shall not take part in the forthcoming survey mission as I have received a new assignment of liaison works with the Government Authorities concerned in connection with the Greek project.

I have a pleasure of presenting you the members of the forthcoming Survey Mission.
